PRESIDENT HOWARD F. LOWRY

"Going to the Shack?"

"Not today, Lowry's in Chapel." This is a typical response at Wooster. Whether speaking in Chapel, presenting trained fleas at the Faculty Review, greeting the Freshman Class by flashlight, selling Ohio businessmen on their stake in higher education, or throwing a dummy football player on the pep-rally fire, Dr. Lowry represents to an infinite circle of people the significance of this college.

Many people have come to Wooster in search of themselves, and in search of the kind of active mind and vital personality that Dr. Lowry epitomizes.

And people love Wooster, because this College has been the scene of some of their most worthwhile experiences. Dr. Lowry's deep scholarship, his effective communication of ideas, his friendship, his wit, and his faith in God and in man make him the symbol of what Wooster means to many people in many ways.

After having been unloaded and deposited in rooms by parents, Frosh found themselves steered around and shown the ropes by Juniors, counseled by faculty, offered assistance (especially the girls) by seniors, and in a short time, tortured by Sophomores. Tradition, said every gleeful and savage Soph. We get to make you roll in the mud, and fight for your rights. You eat your share of humble pie, and wear your dinks like good little Frosh or you'll probably not be able to sit down or walk upstairs for a good week after run-out. Promises, promises! The senior counselors had offered help at any time and promised to be available whenever a need arose. But in the face of tradition, even Seniors were helpless. The only way to win was to keep smiling, so the Frosh gritted the mud in their teeth and smiled through all of the events that led to the bag rush in the good old Wooster custom.

The administration took some time before the whirl of first semester classes began to make themselves known to wondering Freshmen and the first official introduction to President Lowery was one not too soon to be forgotten. Of course the first day in Wooster had been one of rain, and that evening as every member of the newly gathered class sat in Taylor Hall listening to Dr. Lowery's welcome address, the clouds cut loose and a September thunderstorm took the stage for a bit. As the President spoke about the world in the age of clipper ships, the lights quietly faded out and he continued his sentence in total darkness. A surprised murmur arose, then died down, and one by one, flashlights appeared on the stage until there were at least four sitting about in strategic spots. Dr. Lowery made the best of the situation, and when the lights came on as suddenly as they had gone out, applause rocked Taylor. At the close of the welcome, the class left the auditorium with a feeling of unity resulting from the first fun and experience shared as a group and a class.

In the first week of October signs and devices bearing Freshman names appeared in unexpected places on and about campus. After the formal introduction of these brave candidates in chapel, the Class of '61 elected officers Bob Pisor from Westerville, Ohio; Carl Hilgert of Cuyahoga Falls; Kay Cicerello of Cleveland; and Angene Hopkins from Lakewood, Ohio. President Pisor was one of the elect for Sophomore Court, and having weathered that, is one of the boys in the thickest of the battle of the bridge players. Vice President Hilgert spends a good part of the time on the basketball court, and the rest, like everyone else, with the books. He plans tentatively to major in English, but is not sure what he'll do with it. Angene Hopkins, Secretary of the class is also on the Voice Staff, acts as program chairman for Freshman Apprentices, and works at Boys Village. Kay Cicerello, Treasurer, takes time to be a member of the Concert Choir, and is especially interested in intramural sports.

Dollars for Dinks

The big beginning of campus social life for Freshmen was the Mixer of Friday, September 13, climaxing a day of tests, rain, and general orientation. Pencils and paper were procured at the door, and surprised Frosh hauled out dollars for dinks and went sorting through the neatly stacked sizes which immediately became unsorted and remained that way. And so, up the stairs to the gym where uncertain Frosh circulated among other questioning members of the class of '61 inquiring intelligently, "Do you have false teeth?" or, "are you from my state?" Following this mixer of questions and answers, a shoe shuffle was the cue for dancing to begin. Upperclassmen directed the affair and provided the entertainment in the form of the Fifth Section Quartet (Moe Cotton, Jack Burrow, Ron Taylor, Tom Dingle) which was very well received. The evening closed with a grand march, each fellow walking his partner to her dorm.

"Ring them bells!"

Bobby-pins, anyone?

Saturday night, September 14, was the night of the big Switch; a gala affair to be sure! Each dorm split into groups led by Junior Residents and proceeded from dorm to dorm with the purpose of getting to know the campus and the result of being most of the time thoroughly confused and utterly lost. Each dorm host or hostess explained and led the game to be played there.

More new names were associated with the proper faces during group singing of Songs of the Hill, charades, description and identification games, and dancing, so that by the end of the festivities most Freshmen had dates for the impending S. C. A. formal, or had taken steps in that bright direction.

No, Four syllables!

It's a Date

Like rolling off a log.

Run-out! Noise, confusion, very early morning, and mud. With sharp commands and thick paddles, vengeant Sophomores went about the traditional Freshman hazing with a right good will and a strong right arm. Cries of "We love the Sophomores," and "Freshmen are the scum of the earth," torn from the sleepy Frosh beat out on the night to the accompaniment of the gentle swish of tooth-brush bristles being worn down to nothingness on the cement of steps and sidewalks. Girls scrubbed steps, ran, exercised, crawled, sang, laughed, or shouted on command; boys did the same, only more. Both groveled in the mud playing "Dead Bug" and "Air Raid," and all adjourned to their respective dorms exhausted, mud or lipstick smeared, and sore after a coffee and doughnut party given by their suddenly sympathetic tormentors.

Hallelujah, Mud!

When morning gilds the skies . . .

... And the world smiles with you!

Thanks to the flu, the prescribed activities of Freshman Day were curtailed and split up so that the usual parade was cancelled after much work and worry, and no queen ascended the Frosh throne to her day of glory. The day taken as second choice was Friday, November 15, when Sophomores finally reached their glory. Luckless and flat broke, the class of '61 provided free candy and gum to gloating upper-classmen, sang college songs, whether or not they knew them, to their task-masters, and faithfully endured the adornment of dinks for the entire day.

Prescribed attire for the male part of the class included a sandwich board in the shape of the individual's home state, dink, sport or suit coat, tie, tee shirt, dungarees or bermudas, unmatched socks, and large, respectful smiles. The girls appeared for classes and chapel with pig-tails, clashing clothes worn backwards, one street shoe and ankle sock, and one sneaker or high heeled shoe with a nylon or a knee sock. Pale-faced with no make-up, and clutching bags of goodies, they avoided the crowds and the Union like the plague and hid in the darkest corner of each class. Parents who came early for their annual Parents' Day the next day were treated to the free Frosh offerings as long as the supply lasted, and it was in their honor that the Bag Rush was postponed until the next Saturday, November 23.

And there are songs.

The first event of the bag rush, an unannounced relay race, took the spectators by surprise, especially those standing on the cinder-path track. The Sophomores came really close more than once to the panting Frosh racers, and despair was stalking the Frosh ranks, but a near thing is still a miss, and the Class of '61 was off to a running start with the first point. After a game of rough-and-tumble war which the Sophomores won with gusto and ferocity, a tug-of-war took place with the Freshmen winning two out of three tries, and the poor rope getting the worst of the whole business. By the time for the regular bag rush event, the field was a slippery mass of trampled mud. The opposing forces lined up—each to its end. The burlap bag of precious sand sat innocently alone in the middle of the area. At the signal the teams charged, met at the bag, and for three minutes that seemed an eternity, confusion reigned supreme. Disembodied arms, feet, hands, and an occasional piece of someone's shirt appeared and disappeared at intervals, and when time was called, the bag still sat, unmoved and uncaring. Jubilant, victorious Frosh removed dinks and after a mighty cheer for their heroes, gave three for the beaten Sophomores, and went dormward, dinkless.

Friday, November 16, a select few, thirteen to be exact, of the Freshman men were treated to the rigors and terrors of Sophomore Court. Thirteen Sophomores, victims of last year's torture, played host to the party which began on the stroke of Twelve Midnight. All sorts of appropriate games were played, such as bend-over-while-we-see-who-can-paddle-the-hardest, and let's-all-exercise-until-we're-exhausted. Just before time to leave for a promised drive around the country-side before retiring, refreshments were served in the form of axle grease sandwiches and other delicacies suitable to the occasion and the educated tastes of the erudite group. The festivities ended in a pleasant ride out into the country when the penniless Frosh were unceremoniously dumped to find what ways back to campus that they could, if they still wanted to be part of the Wooster community after this taste of her hospitality.

Order in the Court!

Score Tied—Two Seconds to go.

A for Effort

"Porter!"

No rest for the wicked!

Wooster skies spit snow as lines of girls burdened with the accumulations of one semester filed from Hoover to Wagner and back again. Dragging their feet and usually a blanket or stuffed animal in the slush, the car-less Freshman women beat a muddy path over the golf-course and into the once spotless halls of new and shining Wagner. The general exodus of females and their belongings included the girls from Miller Manor as well as those from Holden Annex, and affected one third of the male population in Douglass. These chosen or self-appointed boys were so busy getting together their wardrobes and lugging their laundry bags that they hadn't the strength left even to sympathize with the tired ladies, much less to offer to carry their bundles and share their burdens. Moving out and carrying and depositing possessions in rooms was only part of the battle. Most of the displaced persons took one look at new and chaotic rooms, and without even taking time to put sheets on the bare beds, kicked off their soggy shoes and slept all afternoon, a practice that was to become a habit!

Have load . . . will travel!

Look out Hoover, here we come!

At eight sharp Eastern Standard Time, a student engineer pushes a button on the control panel and announces, "Ladies and Gentlemen, good evening! This is the Radio Voice of the College of Wooster, WCW, coming to you live from our studios on the campus through the transmitting facilities of WWST-FM." This is repeated every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evening in WCW's studios in Taylor Hall.

WCW, an extra-curricular activity of the Department of Speech, presents a high level of interesting, informative and entertaining programming to an audience from Cleveland to Columbus. The programs cover music from Brubeck to Bartok to Beethoven and the latest in goings on in the world through such programs as Hans Jenny's and Ron Johnson's "Scope" and George Colflesh's "Science Behind the Headlines."

Mr. Winfred Logan heads the station team for the Department of Speech while Larry Howe, John Beernink, and Ralph Jennings act as Station Manager, Chief Announcer, and Chief Engineer respectively. The rest of the staff can be and is extended over the entire student body, for how else could we be THE RADIO VOICE OF THE COLLEGE OF WOOSTER?

The W. R. A. (Women's Recreation Association) is an organization, sponsored by the Women's Physical Education Department, of which all women of the college are automatically members. This organization has as its chief purpose the provision of recreation for the college women through participation in sports, such as hockey, archery, swimming, tennis, volleyball, basketball, fencing, synchronized swimming, badminton, and golf. Though recreation and enjoyment are the prime purposes of these programs, secondary purposes are equally important; these secondary elements concern the promotion of physical fitness through physical exercise and the opportunity to learn new sports and skills.

L. Lewton, Miss Toops, F. Enich, S. Weimer, J. Craig.

A girl who has shown interest and enthusiasm toward a sport as well as mastery of the skills of that sport is elected to take over the management of participation in that sport when it is in season. All of these managers plus the teachers of the Women's Physical Education Department comprise the WRA board. The board meets once a week, in its meetings reports are given by the managers of the sports in season, and plans are made for participation in sports with women of other colleges; the board also has several money-making projects, such as the selling of refreshments during the football season, and the selling of candy in all women's dormitories. Money gained is used in carrying out the WRA program; and the sponsorship of at least one service project a year.

Under the able leadership of Bruce Milne the Young Democrats enjoyed a banner year. Many speakers were brought to the Wooster Campus, some with the aid of the Institute of Politics. These speakers included Senator Frank Church of Idaho, Mr. Hayworth candidate for the office of Congressman in Michigan, and Paul Butler, the national party chairman. This organization also played host in the Spring to the Conference of Ohio College Young Democrats. Present on campus for the occasion were the major candidates for Governor in the Democratic primary in Ohio, and Governor "Soapy" Williams from Michigan, who gave an address.

The Young Republicans carried on a active program under the leadership of President Bill Herrington. At his side dedicated Republicans such as Bill Van Tilburg and Frank Knorr assisted. Many speakers were imported to the campus, among whom were Hugh Troth, Prosecuting Atty. from Ashland, Howard Pyle, Deputy Assistant to President Eisenhower, Senator Charles Potter of Michigan and former Governor Brown of Ohio.

B. VanTilburg, B. Herrington, F. Knorr, and J. Wenger converse with Senator Potter and his wife.

the little theatre

The LITTLE THEATRE of the Department of Speech is under the direction of William C. Craig. The purpose of the LITTLE THEATRE, as stated in one of its publications, is "to train in self-expression, sometimes closely allied with the work of certain classes in several departments, to present a worth-while campus activity, often to provide simply a wholesome entertainment for the campus and the community, and, we hope on some occasions, at least, to inspire."

This past year the LITTLE THEATRE enjoyed one of its most successful seasons, having capacity crowds for such plays as The Chalk Garden, Billy Budd, and The Matchmaker.

Nancy Gazdick and Judy McCormick

Barbara Frederick and Sandra Sanders

The Speech Department presented the Homecoming play for 1957—The Chalk Garden—by Enid Bagnold. This adult English comedy has a present day setting.

Miss Madrigal (played by Sandra Sanders) applies as a governess for a household position in England. She is interviewed by (Barbara Frederick), an old overpowering, once beautiful hostess of English society. Miss Frederick is engaged in looking after her granddaughter (Judy McCormick), whose mother (Nancy Gazdick) has married again. The manservant (John Casteel) is a classless, ageless man. He is exploited by both grandmother and granddaughter. The governess has served a life sentence for murder, and was released from prison on good behavior. This background comes a flame when the judge (Ray Machesney) who had sentenced her, comes to lunch. Other members of the cast included Barbara Tooley, Gretchen Van Matre and Janet Agnew.

"Billy Budd," a play written by Coxe and Chapman, was presented Nov. 13, 14, 15, and 16 as the Parent's Day Play. Adapted from Herman Melville's Billy Budd—Foretopman the play is set in nautical background and is typical of Melville's work dealing with psychological conflicts. Billy Budd (Jim McLaughlin) is an American seaman forced to serve on the ship INDOMITABLE. This basically good character is contrasted to Master-at-Arms, John Claggart (Ted D'Arms) who is evil personified. Captain Vere, (Dave Davis) as master of the ship, First Seaman Officer Saymour (Malcolm Litwiller), Radcliffe (Frank Kenworthy), Wyatt (Brad Stoddard), 'Squeak' (Jack Casteel), and Dansker (Dave Smucker) round out the important roles.

The Children's Play "Jack and the Bean Stalk"

Wooster children of all ages were invited to witness the escapades of Charlotte Charpening's "Jack and the Bean Stalk," the Children's Play given this year in Scott Auditorium on December 5, 6, and 7. "Jack" was parr of Anne Marsh's senior I.S. project and Mr. Logan was supervising Ann's direction.

Jack was played by Ron Marks; Jack's mother by Kay Neaidengard; the Magic Maker by Margaret Moses; Rafe Haywood by Murray Blackadar; the Giant, Dave Smucker; the Giant's wife, Judy Holiday; the Harp, Edi Powers; and old Tyb, Rhoda Linton. Others in the cast included Doug Burger, who had a double role, Van Vanderland, Judy Vixseboxse, Brad Stoddard, and Ann Barr.

Wide-eyed children acclaimed the play a big success.

Under the direction of Stuart J. Ling and Junior Drum Major Dave MacMillan, the Scot Band once again brightened the Saturday afternoon gridiron scene.

This year the half-time series of shows was based on the music of George Gershwin and included geometric formations by the band, specialty twirling by Gail Winklevoss, and the dancing of the MacLeod Lassies captained by Kay Vigrass who also did the choreography.

No Scot Band would be complete without its pipers and Dick Hersh, Julie Jerabek, Paul Reeder, Greg Seaman, and Lynn Stanhope added that authentic Scotch touch.

Officers for the year were: President—Mary Linke; Vice-President—Fred Cunningham; Secretary-Treasurer—Judy Holliday; Librarians—Lynn Stanhope, Bill Pilkey, Louise Orr, and Janet Geuss.

MacLeod Lassies Barbara Douglas, Carole Whiteleather, Judy Grossjean, Captain Kay Vigrass, Cindy Schneider, Ann Galehouse, and Beverly Douglas perform.

The Concert Choir, under the direction of Dr. Richard T. Gore, enjoyed one of its busiest seasons. Dr. Gore conducted the Christmas concert when Dona Nobis Pacem and other smaller works were sung. Haydn's Creation, under the direction of guest conductor Robert Shaw, was given as an Easter concert. The Choir next appeared before the General Assembly of The United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. during the first week in June when the Assembly was under formation in Pittsburgh; and the season was concluded when Handel's Ode to St. Cecilia's Day was performed as a part of the Commencement activities.

It is questionable whether any event on the college campus can match the pageantry, the gaiety, and the excitement which are generated on a typical Saturday afternoon in the confines of Severance Stadium. There in the crowded stands a mass of people are in turn delighted, disappointed, and overjoyed by the performance of twenty-two well built and spirited young men. This is Wooster football, and this is an unforgettable experience for everyone who has known the College on the Hill.

Last fall the Scot football team compiled a 3-6 record for the season. Although the number of losses came far too often to please able Head Coach Phil Shipe and his staff, it must be conceded by all that the Scots were a scrappy and courageous team that never permitted any opponent an easy triumph. This is proved by glancing at the scores which show that the margin of defeat was more than a single touchdown on only two occasions.

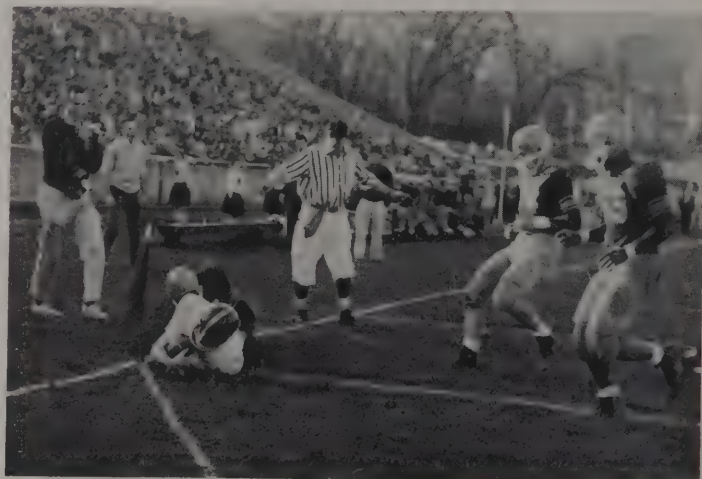

Bob Wachtel eludes the last would-be tackler for 15 yards and the Scots' first touchdown against Wittenberg.

The gridders began their campaign with a resounding win over Ashland by a score of 34-0. This game featured a fine performance by Tom Dingle who hit paydirt twice, once on a spectacular 46-yard jaunt in the second quarter which put the contest out of reach for Ashland, 21-0. Others who scored were John Papp in the first quarter, Lu Wims on an intercepted pass, and Bill Evans who plunged over for the final markers in the last quarter. The Eagles of Ashland were held to a net gain of only fifteen yards by the Scots' stellar defensive performance.

The following week Kenyon's Lords were greeted by a four-touchdown blast and a 25-7 defeat on the Severance turf. This was very gratifying to the Scots because it avenged the 13-12 upset in 1956.

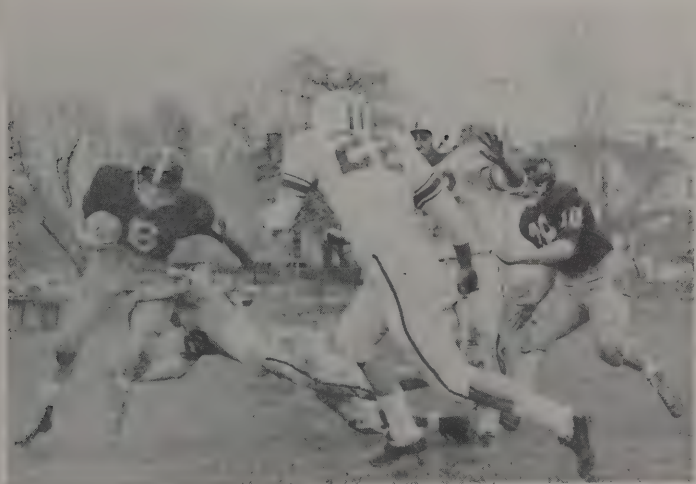

Dingle again displayed beautiful running form as he scored two touchdowns from 40 and 23 yards away.

Wooster's gridiron team was edged out of the unbeaten ranks the next weekend by a 16-14 count at the hands of the Bishops of Ohio Wesleyan. The Scots' offensive maneuvers were bottled up all afternoon but especially in the first half when they gained only 12 yards rushing. A field goal in the final seconds of the first half proved to be the winning margin for Ohio Wesleyan.

Denison's Big Red provided more of the same for the Scots in the next contest as a two-touchdown splurge by the Scots in the final period could not overcome the 20-0 advantage which Denison had built up. Final score: Denison 20, Wooster 13.

The following two weekends, a succession of fumbles and penalties completely stalled the Scot football squad against two of their arch rivals, Muskingum and Akron. Consequently two more defeats went into the statistics by scores of 16-0 and 27-7.

In the Wittenberg contest the Scots exhibited a greatly improved brand of football as they gave the powerful Tigers of Wittenberg all they could handle and grabbed a 13-6 edge at the close of the first half. Bob Wachtel and Dingle provided the touchdowns as they scampered 24 and 27 yards, respectively. However, Wittenberg bounced back in the second half and squeezed out a 19-13 victory. The Scots turned in perhaps their best performance of the season against Wittenberg's second-ranked entry in the Ohio Conference race and could content themselves with a moral victory against the Tigers of Wittenberg.

time by a 14-7 count.

In their final game of the season the Scot gridders unleashed their pent-up desires of the whole campaign and thoroughly thrashed Oberlin's Yeomen by a 37-6 score. The highlights of the contest included the yardage and three touchdowns credited to Dingle. For the third consecutive season Tom gained over 1000 yards rushing—a record to be proud of. Evans and Wims also tallied touchdowns to complete the rout.

Last fall's edition of the football team contained as many of the exciting players, plays, and games as any of its predecessors. For instance, who can ignore Dingle's dazzling runs which gained for him a place on the All-Ohio Conference and All-Ohio squads or numerous fine performances by Papp, Evans, Wachtel, Nelander, May, Cotton, Register, Shuster, and others. Also, who can forget the brilliance and excitement of the Wittenberg game, or the joy of victory as the Scots overcame their losing streak and whipped Oberlin to celebrate Parents' Day.

All these make up Wooster football and these are the things we remember about a typical Saturday afternoon at the College on the Hill.

hardwood superiority

At the College of Wooster the sport known as basketball has a flavor and sparkle all its own. The driving, twisting layups of a Don Dixon, the ball hawking and floor sense of a Tom Dennison, the long accurate jump shots of a Danny Thomas, the awesome rebounding of a Lu Wims, and the general aggressiveness of a well-trained team blended into many evenings of thrills and suspense for a highly partisan crowd of spectators at Severance Gymnasium.

The usual mark of a good team is the success of its season's record and here is where the basketball Scots can prove their outstanding ability and general excellence. They compiled a season's slate of sixteen victories and four defeats—a fine accomplishment. In Ohio Conference action the Scot quintet piled up a 9-3 record which was good enough for undisputed third place behind Akron and Wittenberg.

In the opening game of the campaign the Scots travelled to Lake Forest, Illinois, where they took it on the chin, 86-82. Danny Thomas, who was last season's leading scorer, showed no signs of a sophomore jinx as he hit for 28 points to pace the Scots.

In the next contest the Scot squad chalked up the first of their sixteen wins by easily downing Grove City, 91-68. Wittenberg's tall squad used their height and some mediocre play by the Scots to their advantage and romped over the Scots at Springfield by a 98-59 score. In this important match the Scots did not display the polished floorwork that they did possess later in the season.

In their next two outings the Scot basketball team swept past Washington and Jefferson, 86-72, and Hiram, 98-59. Tom Dennison sparked the Scots with 18 points against the former and Thomas warmed the nets for 23 points against the latter. When the Scot squad travelled to Akron to meet the Zips, they again faced a large deficiency in the height department. This time Wooster employed a tight control type of strategy in which they set up their shots carefully because of the rebounding strength of the Zippers. However, it proved to be in vain and the Scots went down to their third defeat, 77-49.

The first of two defeats was inflicted upon Ashland in the next match by a 91-83 count. This was a fierce struggle for the Scots who were behind at halftime, 43-39. However, after trailing closely almost the whole contest, the Scot quintet tied the score at 70-70 and went on to win.

Three consecutive home contests produced three more triumphs for Wooster's Scots as they laced Albion, Michigan, 76-66, Ashland's Eagles a second time, 74-58, and a good Oberlin team, 67-61. Against the Yeomen of Oberlin, Wooster had built up a 43-29 lead at halftime, Oberlin went ahead 55-52 with four and a half minutes to play. However, at this point Thomas and Tom

At Alliance, Mt. Union's Raiders scalped Wooster, 60-57, in a close game. Although outscoring the Raiders 25-23 in field goals, the Scots suffered a 14-7 deficit at the foul lane and this meant the margin of victory.

The Scot basketball squad finished the season by knocking off seven conference and two non-conference foes. Denison was first to bow, 87-76, as Dale Weygandt whipped in 25 points.

Next on the list were Western Reserve whom the Scots conquered easily, 86-72, and the Muskies of Muskingum, who made it close before taking a loss, 70-65.

In another home contest Otterbein's Otters were drowned, 76-66.

A second half barrage carried the Scot five past Marietta by a 89-68 count as Thomas peppered the hoops with 28 points. Kenyon's Lords were subdued as the Scots rolled up a 106-63 margin.

The Scots pulled the royal carpet out from under the Student Princes of Heidelberg by a margin of 77-72.

Against Ohio Wesleyan the Wooster squad was glad to settle for a 74-73 decision. Tom Dennison's 25 points took scoring honors for the Scots. In the final tilt the Scots were victorious over Case Tech by a 101-84 margin.

Synonymous with Wooster basketball for the past 32 years has been the presence on the bench of E. M. "Mose" Hole, head basketball coach for the Scots. However, Wooster basketball will have to face the 1958-1959 season without Coach Hole's continuing patience and wisdom.

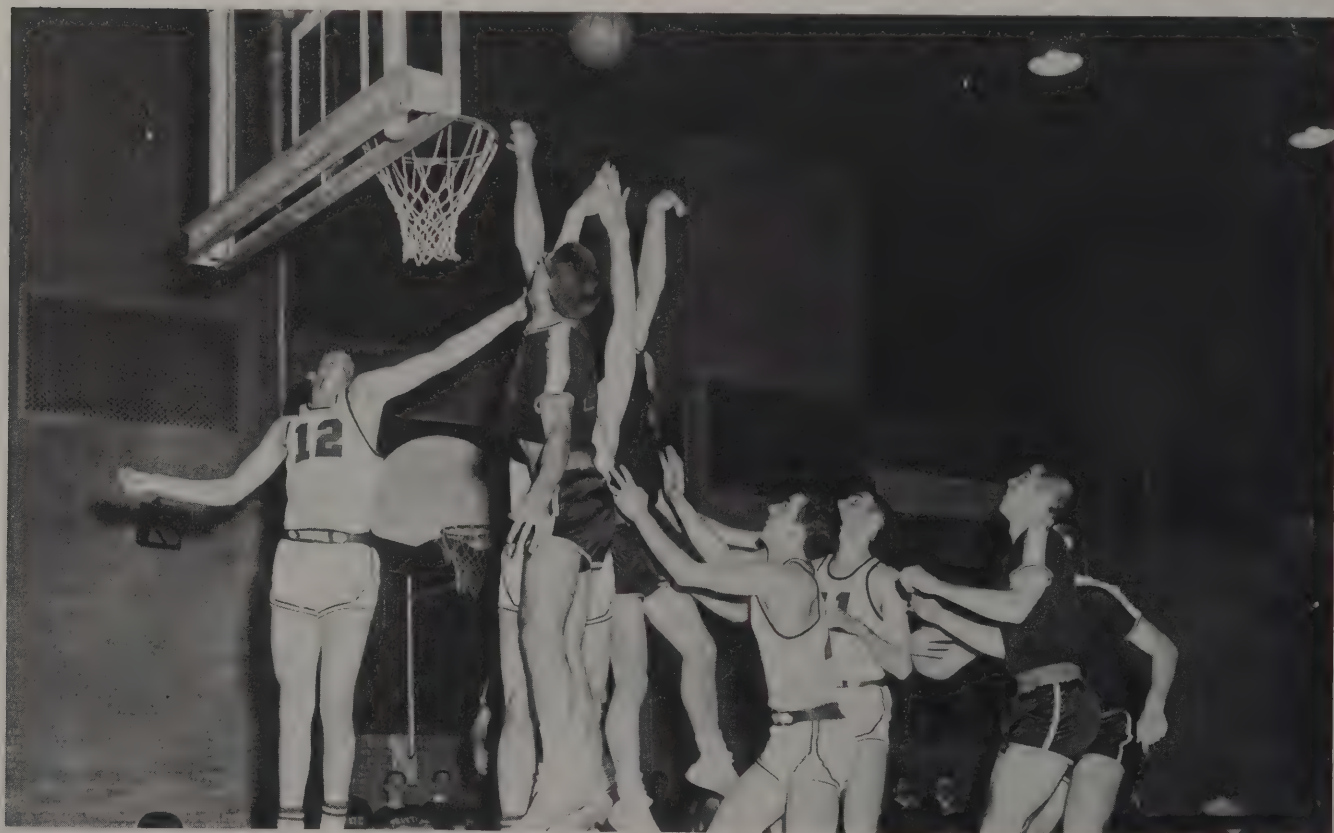

When Wooster's dean of basketball retired after the Case game this season, he ended a fabulous career which included many honors for himself and Wooster. "Mose," recorded 411 victories against only 181 defeats at Wooster, which places him thirteenth on the nation's list of total victories by a college coach — a memorable achievement. His two teams of 1938-39 and 1939-40 were both undefeated and helped establish an Ohio Conference record of 36 consecutive victories. It was in these years that "Mose" began to speed up Wooster basketball. Among other accomplishments Coach Hole also mentored the Scots to five conference titles.

Next season and for many seasons after that it will be hard not to feel the influence of the man who gave Wooster basketball its excitement. "Mose" Hole and Wooster basketball can neither be separated nor forgotten.

At Muskingum Danny Thomas sends another jump shot toward the basket as Gary Getter watches closely on the right.

The adjective, invincible, describes the junior varsity basketball squad of 1958-1959. In his first year at Wooster Coach Jim Ewers molded a team which swept through its entire schedule of sixteen games without being defeated. Their triumphs ranged from a 90-26 annihilation of Tiffin to a pair of conquests of Ashland's JV's by scores of 73-57 and 59-42. The JV's possessed an average victory margin of nearly 30 points per contest.

Guards Ron Bobel and Cliff Perkins were nearly always among the team's leading scorers. Others who saw many minutes of action were Bill Ashworth, Bill Clay, Don Davis, and Karl Hilgert. Congratulations are in order to the players and Coach Ewers.

In OC Meet Wooster placed 5th

Last winter the Scot finmen managed one win and one tie in ten encounters. These successes came in the meets with Akron's Zippers. In the opening meet of the season the Scots came on to tie by sweeping the last four events. Two meets later an improved Scot squad sunk Akron 49-37.

Individual standouts during the season include Joe Basehore and Bob Watson. Basehore swam a leg on the 400-yard freestyle relay. Watson won many first places in the fancy diving and 50-yard freestyle events. Others who turned in victories were John Doerr, Wayne Myers, Bill Reinhardt, Ron Rolley, and Jan van der Valk. Coach Swigart will lose only Watson by graduation which promises a turn for the better next season.

Wooster 5th in OAC meet

The cross country squad, ably tutored by Carl Munson, turned in a promising slate of two victories and three defeats last fall. Although the team ended the season with only five men, fine performances marked many of the season's meets.

Starting off on the right foot, the Scots humbled Otterbein in their initial meeting. However, in their next outing they lost a one-point decision to Akron even though Craig Taylor and Don Custis captured first and second place, respectively. After taking another defeat at the hands of Oberlin, Taylor and Custis again finished ahead of the field to pace the Scots to a thumping triumph over Hiram. In their final regular season meet, Muskingum's Muskies defeated the Scots.

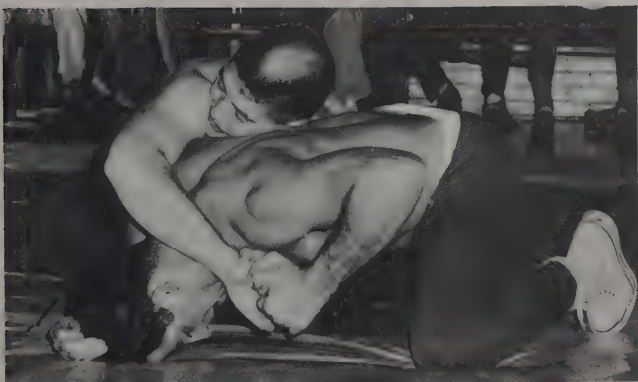

The cross country crew then completed the 1957 season by placing fifth among six competing teams in the Ohio Conference meet. Because only Custis is graduating from his squad of five durable young men, Coach Munson can anticipate improvement in the coming season.

Steve Heald, the Scots' leading scorer of the season with six pins and a decision victory, masters one uncooperative opponent by using his head.

Bill Cayley displays his tight control of the situation and the ability which earned him many victories.

This year's varsity wrestling team turned in a creditable record of three victories and five setbacks in its second season of varsity competition. After winning three of their first five contests the squad met defeat in the final three encounters.

Contributing to the Scots' cause were Bill Cayley, Chris Day, Bob Evans, Steve Heald, Ray Lord, Bud Ruffner, and Pete Wishnok. Coach Phil Shipe can anticipate improvement from next year's squad.

Everyone has experienced the defiant "Strike One!" of the umpire, the vociferous protest of the baserunner who lost a close race to home plate with the small white sphere, and the thrilled roar of the crowd as the ball is sent on a long journey by the home team's leading hitter.

In the spring of 1957 at the College of Wooster, an area on the west end of Severance Stadium was the scene for these and many more thrills produced by the Scot baseball team. The squad, ably guided by Coach John Swigart, was studded with many first year men. It opened the campaign in fine style by copping the first three contests. However, inexperience took its toll during the rest of the season and limited the Scots to an overall 5-7 record.

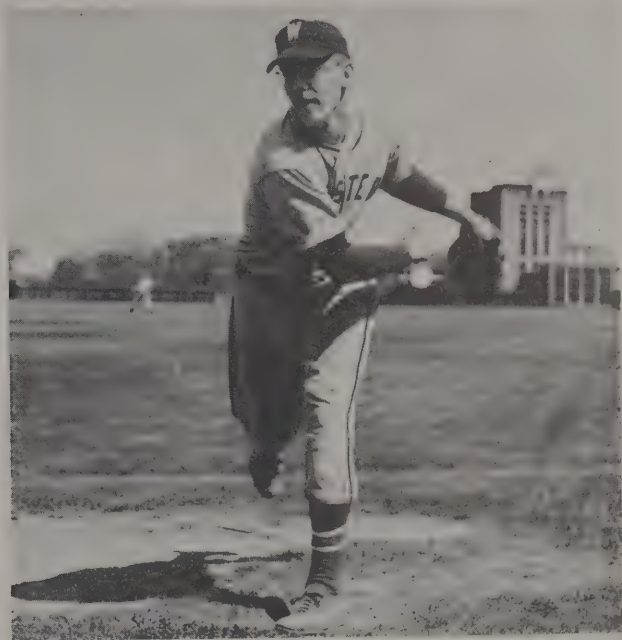

In the opener at Kenyon the Scot diamondmen

Dale Weygandt, the Scots' husky sophomore receiver, provides a good target for the pitching corps.

Chet Welty, a four-year veteran of the diamond wars, turns loose a fast ball plateward.

came from behind to best the Lords, 10-8.

Two whitewashes followed as the Scot squad routed Fenn, 12-0 and Muskingum's Muskies, 6-0. Against Fenn Welty showed the way with his two hit shutout.

After a dry spell of five consecutive defeats the Scots again tasted success through the efforts of the strong right arm of Tom McConihe, who pitched a beautiful 5-1 triumph over Kenyon on Severance soil.

After a second loss to Mt. Union by a margin of 4-1, the diamondmen of Wooster split a final twin bill with Oberlin to finish the season's slate.

Welty, although he batted only eleven times during the season because of his pitching duties, led the team with a .364 batting average. Tom Ford stood out among the regulars with an average of .349. Bill Moats, Welty, and McConihe shouldered the brunt of the pitching chores equally.

Among the regulars Don Baltz, who covered left field, will be the only one lost by graduation.

In OC Meet Wooster placed 7th

In 1957 the Scot trackmen were highly successful in their ventures against the foes. Under the tutelage of Coach Carl Munson they romped to a record of seven wins against a single setback, this at the hands of arch rival Akron.

The season was dotted by many fine individual performances. In the opening victory over Case Cliff Amos, a senior sprinter, won the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Against Capital, Wooster pulled a close meet out of the fire by winning the mile relay and placing first and second in the broad jump and pole vault.

In the next meet the Scots permitted the Terriers of Hiram to capture only the two-mile run as Don, "Cash", Register led the victors with twelve points. The field events provided the thinclads with their close margin of victory against Oberlin as Roger Ramseyer copped a first in the shot put and Rafos propelled the discus to another first place. After their lone defeat by Akron's Zippers the tracksters of Coach Munson ended the season by defeating Mt. Union's Purple Raiders to tack their seventh win on the season's record.

Bill Longsworth and "Cash" Register are neck and neck in the 100-yard dash against Oberlin.

Don Custis gives his all as spectators cheer him on.

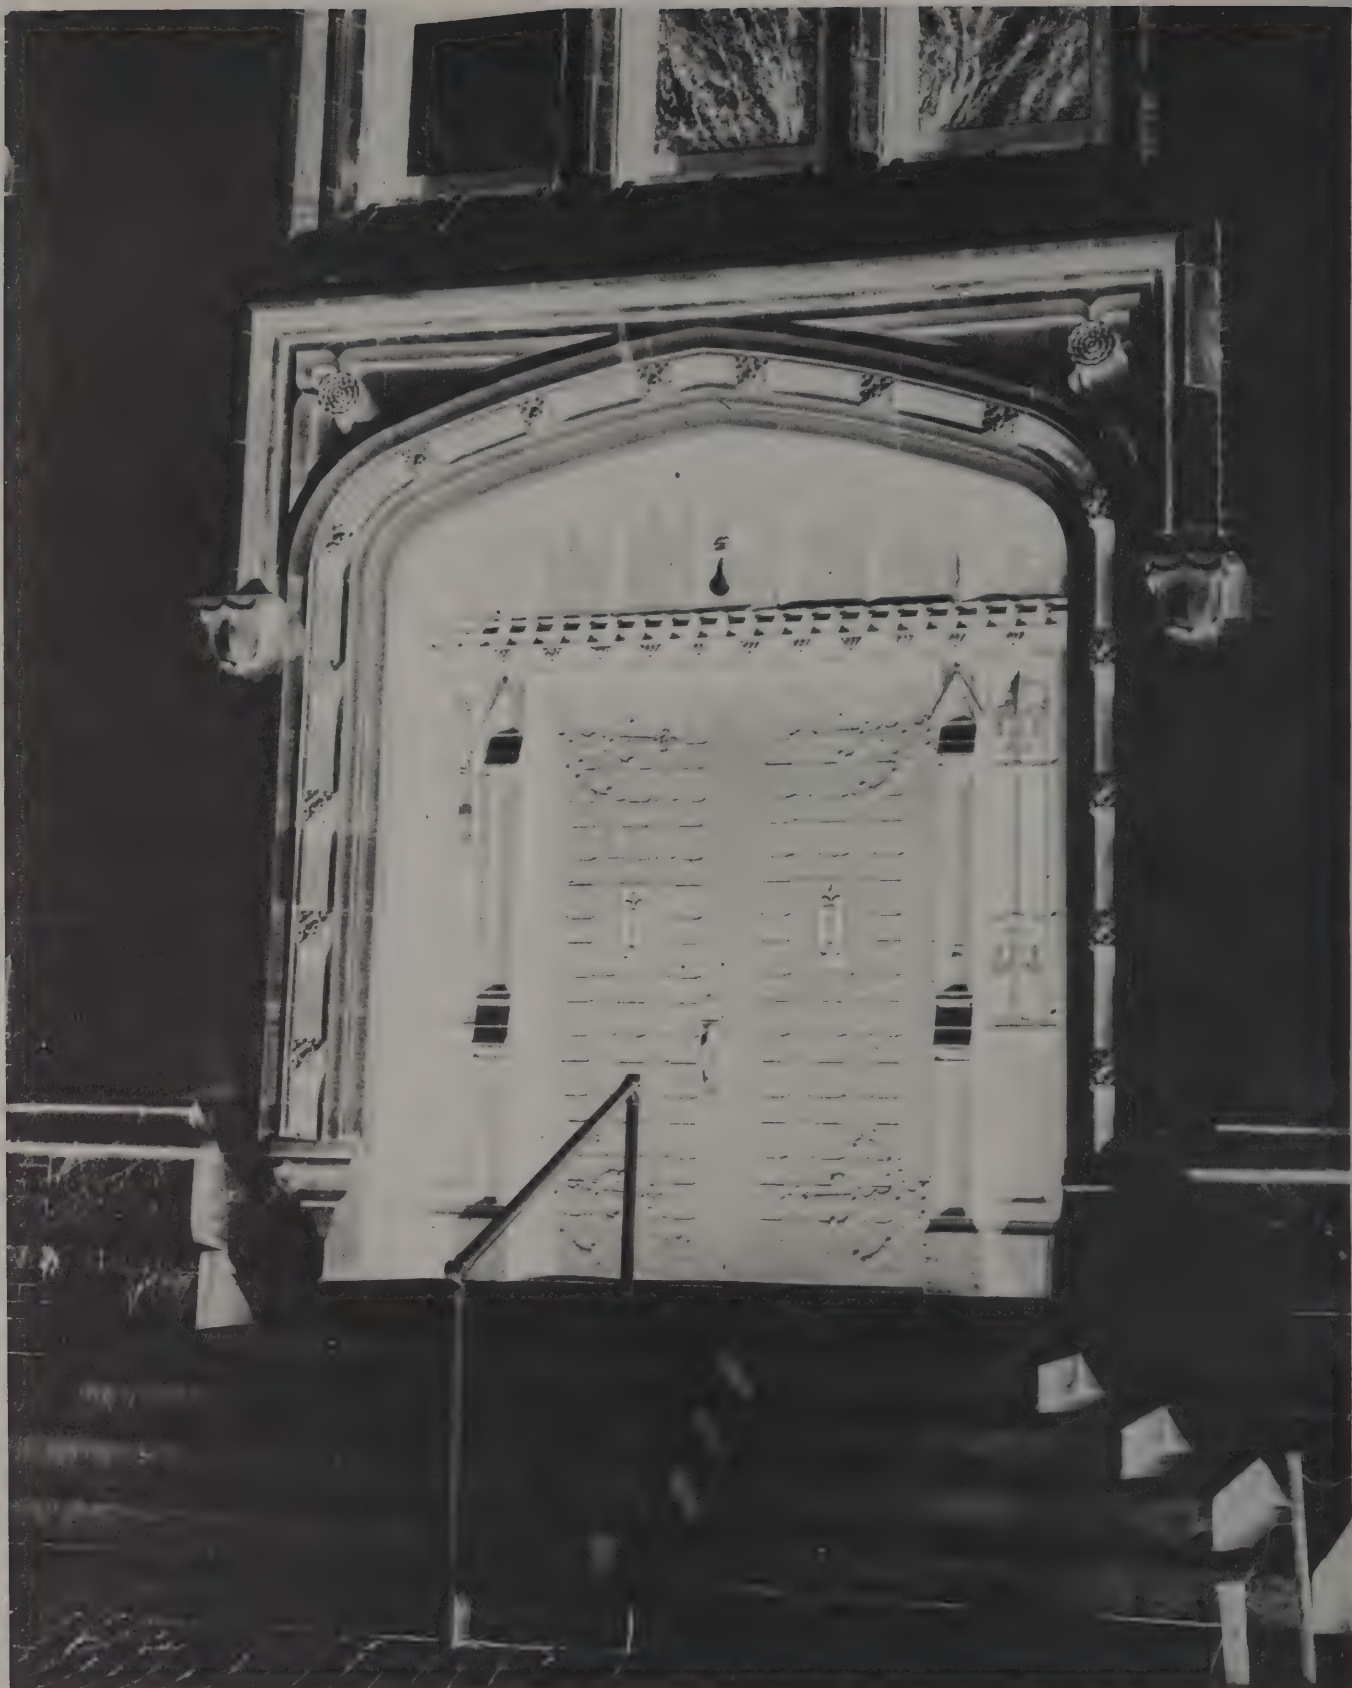

Stu May flings the discus as Dave Nelanders waits his turn in the background.

Over the bar ever so gently goes Rog Ramseyer as he seeks victory in the high jump.

As Jack Rowan leads the way over the hurdles, Dick Frank in the center grimaces as his hurdle begins its downward fall.
